CROSSING
the line

As you move from this high school scene to an independent stage, you will face the world with a different attitude and a different point of view. Everyone has dreams, but we all must cross a line to fulfill them.

Crossing the line to a new life can mean a sudden change in your personality, lifestyle, clothes, hobbies, or maybe your looks. This awakening can also involve new people, and a new way of thinking and seeing things.

It's 8:30 am, and you are attempting to make it to your locker without being caught. Being late to class is bad enough, but you don't need to get hit with a double whammy by not having your text books too.

Through sleepy eyes you see Mr. O'Neal in the distance. And he is heading in your direction. Decision time is here. If you cross this line, and get caught going to your locker, you will pay for it in early morning detention. So you turn around and accept the consequences.

Many of us haven't changed since grade school. Leaving high school. Wow!! It doesn't mean you have to act mature all the time. Acting crazy and wild can still be a part of your personality. But now you are presented with the eye opening experience of graduation.

CROSSING the line

Knowing how to cross the line you need to be courageous, wise, and have a good attitude about life.

CROSSING the line

All of the togetherness has come to an end. We've laughed together, cried together and always seemed to stay together. A time will come when we may meet again- but it will never be the same. It's here class of 1994, time to move on. It's hard to leave the good times behind, but the memories will remain with you because we've Crossed The Line together.

STUDENT LIFE

The Homecoming Party

The Homecoming party, which is sponsored by the senior class committee, co-advised by Mrs. Raoof Malik, and Mrs. Carrie Lynn, took place the night before the football game. The purpose of the party was to enhance school spirit, crown the royalty and their court, and to raise money for the senior class. Mrs. Malik and Mrs. Lynn with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Salzano, Mrs. Joy Grove, Ms. Annette Ashford, and the cheerleading squad all resolved to make this party one of the key in-house events at Barringer.

Cheerleaders prepare to perform.

College Fair

The library was like a restaurant, except the salad bar was replaced with a university bar. Those who were present could select brochures from the colleges of their choice. The event was the annual College Fair hosted by the guidance department. This year, as in the past, Barringer was visited by many representatives from New Jersey colleges. And although seniors were targeted by the orientation, some juniors also had the opportunity to collect information from the variety of colleges represented.

The library was packed with students who squeezed through the crowd to catch advice from the representatives. This event gave these students an opportunity to become more familiar with the colleges that New Jersey has to offer.

Seton Hall, Rutgers, William Paterson, Trenton State, Upsala, Bloomfield, Lincoln Tech, Drew, and Fairleigh Dickinson were among the contributing colleges.

Blue Bears Outshoot Sure Shots

107.5 FM is well known, not only it's music, but also for it's undefeated basketball team known as the WBLS SURE SHOTS. But when Mrs. Ra'Oof-Malik and Mrs. Carrie Lynn, Barringer's senior class advisors, had arranged for Barringer to play against this prominent team in a benefit to raise funds for the class of 1994, no one expected the results. And when they asked health teacher, Mr. Wayne Slappy to field a team, composed of faculty and alumni against WBLS, he agreed knowing full well that the Sure Shots had never been beaten by a New Jersey team. We asked coach Slappy to review the game for our readers, and this was his reply:

"It was indeed a magical night. No one realized that only one male teacher would volunteer to play against these awesome opponents. The game opened with WBLS romping to a 10-2 lead. They ran their offense with machine like precision. At half time the score was 51-50, as our team managed to pull within one point. The score seesawed back and forth until in the end, we managed to win by four points. As a result, the Blue Bears became the first New Jersey basketball team to defeat WBLS. The rematch will be played at Barringer on Saturday, April 16, 1994."

The Homecoming Game

About 12:30 pm the sound of trumpets echoed in the air, as everyone's eyes turned in the direction of Bloomfield Avenue. Led by Mr. Serrano, and Mrs. Mirma Figueroa, the Barringer Marching Band, including the color guards and cheerleaders, marched down the avenue towards the homecoming game, as a tradition, the Royal court followed.

Our Blue Bears prepared themselves for what was to be a strenuous and frustrating game against the Bergen Crusaders. The faces of the partisan students reflected enthusiasm, tempered with anxiety. Throughout the game Barringer waited for their first score.

In the end, although our team wasn't victorious, they gave it their all. But, who said that the Home team must always win the Homecoming game? This doesn't mean that Barringer's squad were losers, instead it proves that they can accept defeat with their heads high. And the students who were there to back the Blue Bears, had the opportunity to demonstrate their support. Go BLUE BEARS!

Mr. Jose Serrano leads on trumpet.

Cassandra Olgesby and Shanda Budha proudly carry the Barringer Marching Band banner.

Maricela Colondres and Ritchie Perez survey their kingdom.

Wanda Padilla, princess, and Jose Matos, prince, greet the crowd as they enter the stadium.

"I got this", says number 44, Rahim Yasin.

Eric Toler, a senior, keeps the drums tumbling.

Two princesses, Giovanni Rodriguez and Kim Harris enjoy the attention.

Beaming princesses Montrice Williams and Angela Wyatt relax as they travel in style.

Keisha Henderson, captain of the color guards, makes sure she does the right job.

Here the colorguards, show off their choreography.

Winter Concert

The choir delights the audience with christmas songs.

It was a magnificent night. With the blend of christmas songs, salsa, and jazz, the winter concert was one of the most delightful events of the year.

With the cooperation of staff, students and relatives, this concert was made possible. One of the night's attraction was our choir, led by Mrs. Bea Herring.

With their voices, members delighted the audience with christmas songs.

The Marching Band, Latin Band, and the Jazz Band, lead by Mr. Jose Serrano, also contributed with their outstanding performances. This concert was a success and everyone shared the same feeling of christmas spirit.

Members enter the auditorium.

The colorguard marches down the aisle.

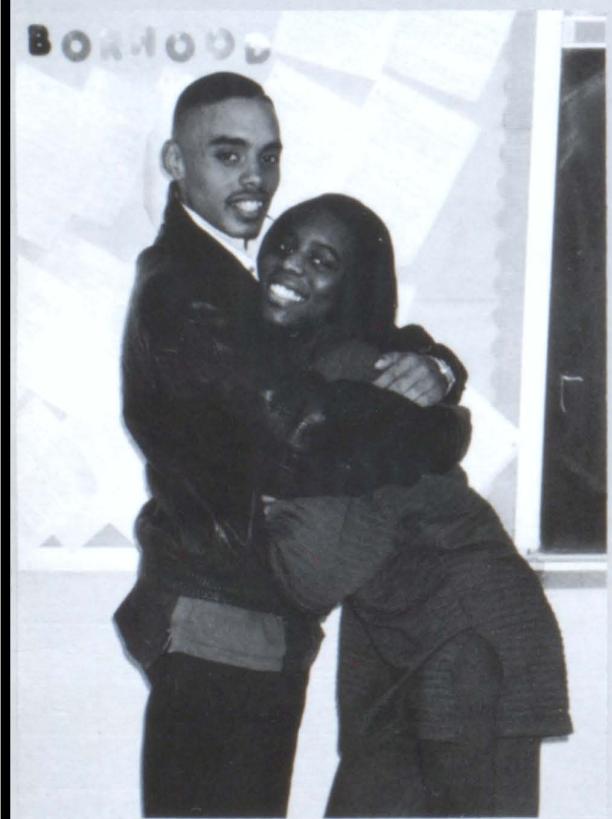

Students show their talent.

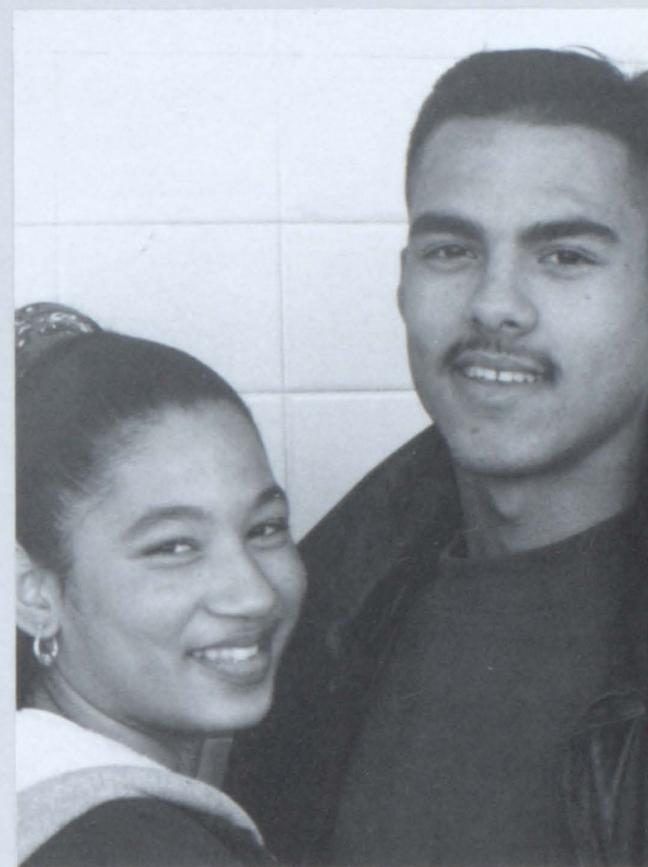

Members of the band concentrate on their masterpiece.

Barringer's fine choir sounds like a chorus of angels.

CROSSING

SENIORS

A large, bold, black word "SENIORS" is centered on a textured, marbled background. The word is slightly tilted and has a three-dimensional appearance.

The date: May 27, 1994.

The place: L'Affaire.

The time: 7:30 pm.

The event: Senior Class Prom

The guests: Barringer's Senior Class, faculty, and administration.

The night is finally here. The ladies dressed in beautiful gowns, and the young men in their tuxedos. Everyone is looking splendid, as they enter the hall with their partner. This night will never be forgotten. This is the night when the class of '94 gets together as friends, and not as Barringer students. They have more in common than being from the same school, they share the triumph of graduating and crossing the line to a new beginning.

Kisha Melendez is waiting for her date to arrive.

The Buck Stops Here!

Congratulations to the graduating class of June 1994.

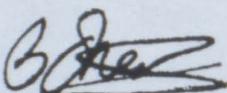

Seniors, thought needs to be given to the next few years of your lives. As you become older and more mature, responsibility for good decision making separates the players from the observers.

Players are "doers" and actively decide on issues which involve them, such as; education, jobs, housing, and family matters. They are goal oriented and make things happen.

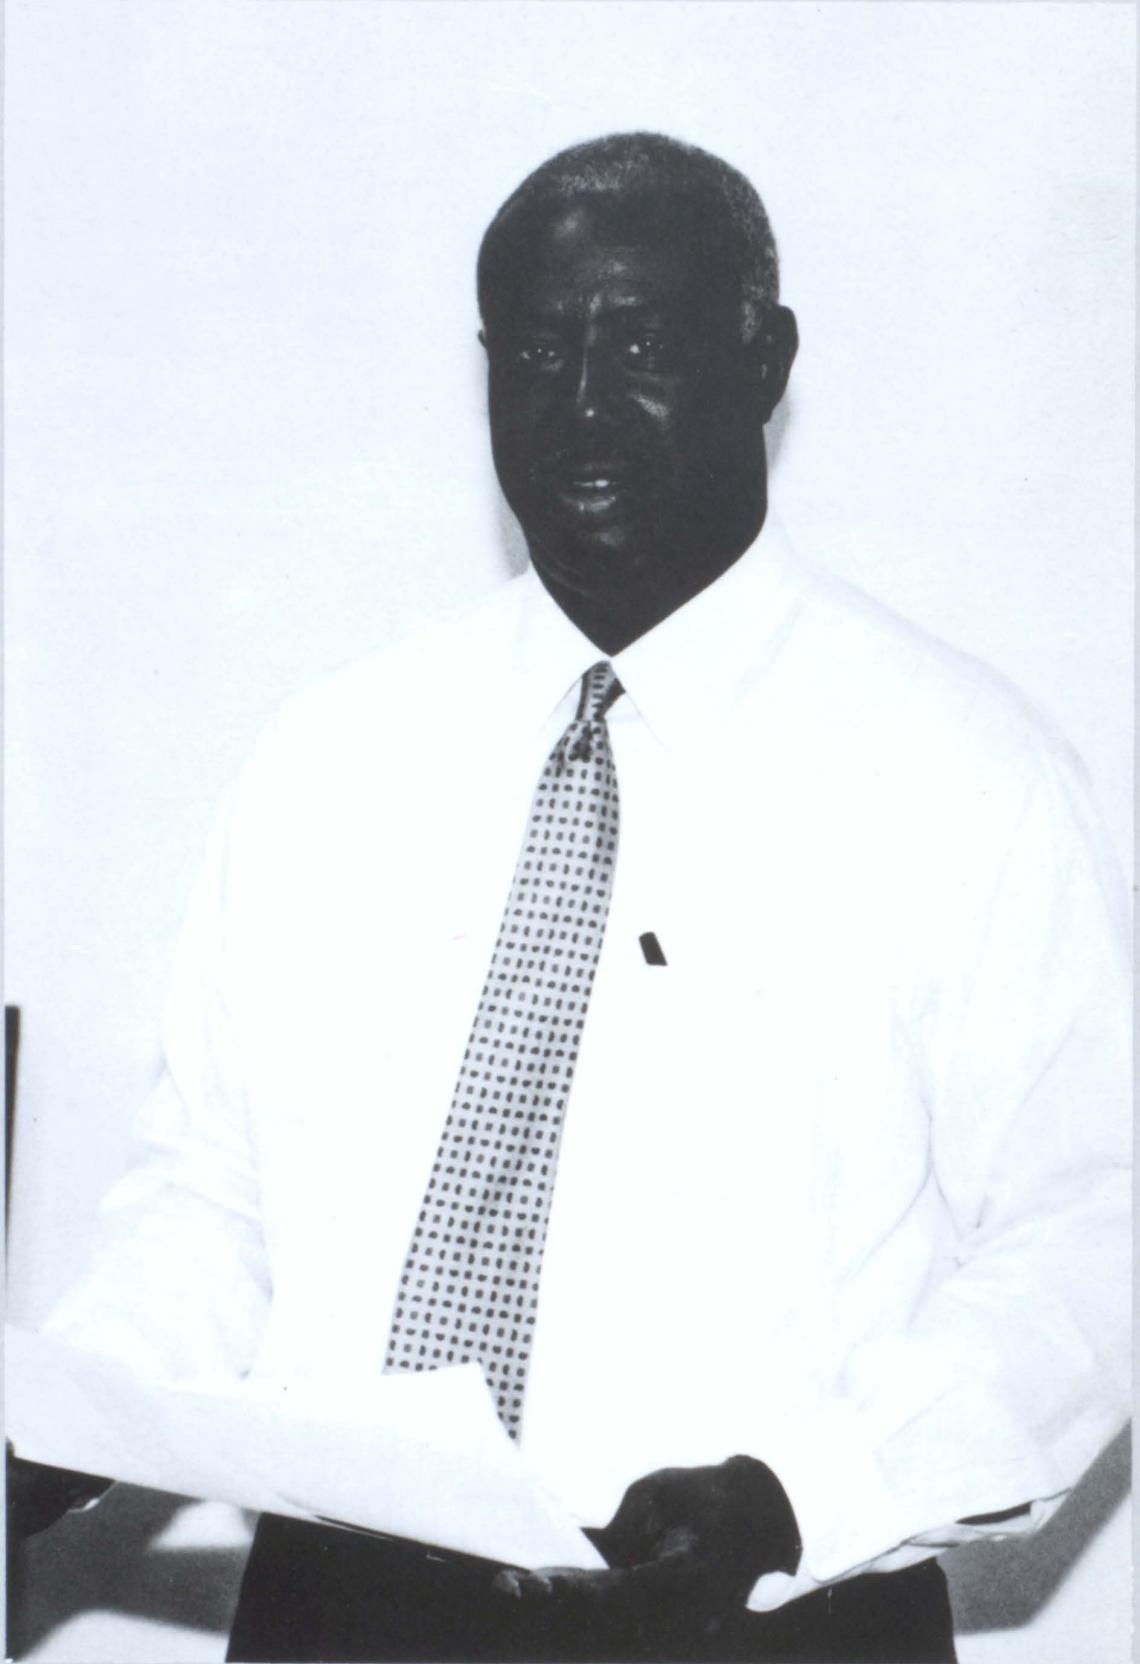

Observers are afraid to make decisions for fear of failure. They blame their problems on others. They are like leaves drifting on the waters; they go where the waves take them.

Become players, for change in life and society depends upon you.

You owe that much to your future sons and daughters.

To Our Beloved Students

There is no gain without pain in this race of man, So learn to catch the joy and beauty wherever you can. When the odds are against you as you know they are, You must prepare yourself for battle and accept every scar. As a part of the process of succeeding in life, In order to get the victory, there must be strife. Be confident that the Almighty didn't raise you so far up, without maintaining His promise for the winning cup. So as they say, "Keep Ya Head Up" in songs, I'll remind you of the words that have inspired throngs; "When you walk through a storm, keep your head up high. ## ATHENAEUM

When trying to create and assemble the Athenaeum, the yearbook staff needed to research yearbooks from past years to develop a theme. Each writer from the yearbook staff worked hard to overcome "the deadline", by exerting themselves to collect ideas and select pictures that they felt created the best impact for their section. The staff remained many hours after school working on the book, always demonstrating a positive attitude. The job would be completed on time - and get done right!

Ms. Barringer Contest

The following girl's have had an opportunity to represent Barringer High School in this senior class fund-raising activity. The young ladies, who each competed with at least 10 others, had to sell votes to win each category. The money collected was deposited in the senior class treasury. This reporter asked Senior class advisor Mrs. Malik to characterize each of the winners.

Miss Barringer — Yashanda Budha is a graduating senior. She will be missed as one of the best bannerettes Barringer's Band has had. Miss Senior — Olga Pello is very quiet and polite, and gets along with her peers. Her goal is to work with tele-communications. Miss Junior — Flor Maria Soto works hard daily in the Barringer High School Newsroom (yearbook, school paper, etc.) Maria is an average student, who loves talking and laughing with others. Miss Sophomore — Daynelle Williamson, is a lovely colorguard in the Barringer High School Band. She has beautiful brown eyes and uses them well. Daynelle loves to debate, if the time permits she will join the debating team soon. Miss Freshman — LaShanta Andrews is new to the Barringer High School family. She has been a consistent supporter of the sport events held at the school. LaShanta is looking for a club that will enhance her afro-centric heritage."

Ms. Malik added, "The senior class and advisors thank the girl's for their cooperation and congratulate them on their win." These young ladies get the honor of representing their class, and will be pictured in the 1994 yearbook.

Ms. Barringer: Yashanda Budhu

Ms. Senior: Olga Pello

Ms. Junior: Flor Maria Soto

Ms. Sophomore: Daynelle Williamson

Ms. Freshman: LaShanta Andrews

Paradise of Life

My thoughts are tired,
tired from looking for solutions,
and even though I don't find any answers to these problems,
I still have faith;
I think of the day
I can make the poor smile,
I think of how to guide
the poor to eternal paradise,
I will give them love
without lies or deceptions,

peace between one another,
sharing their love and wealth
with each other,
If one day I'm able to do this,
the poor will be able to see the good side of this world
full of adversity,
a world that will take all of us to change,
a world we could call utopia.

Mr. Pedro Sierra

Teacher, counselor, friend are the words that come to mind when remembering Mr. Pedro Sierra. Born of Puerto Rican descent, and raised in Newark, Mr. Sierra was a popular Barringer counselor. He was a Bilingual Resource Specialist who taught Spanish social studies and English as a second language.

He received an award for Bilingual Teacher of the Year, followed by a certificate of Achievement from P.R.E.A., and recognition for his cooperation in the Aspira Club.

Mr. Sierra always found time to advise his students. He will always be remembered as the man who made it clear to all who knew him that anything we envision in our future is possible.

Hassan Dorsey

Eager to graduate in June 1994, Hassan Dorsey had discussed his future with Barringer Vice-principal Mrs. Shirley Harris. He decided to take two evening courses to make up the necessary credits he needed. But, he died before he was able to elect those courses.

While his death had a shocking effect at Barringer, Marching Band members appeared to be particularly affected. He was an important leader in the drum line. "He was very popular, and everybody liked and knew him," said Mrs. Harris.

The student body of Barringer will always remember Hassan Dorsey.

Mrs. Joan Cinelu

We at Barringer High will miss Mrs. Cinelu. Leaving her office made you feel confident about yourself because, you always came out with a smile. Reflecting on Mrs. Cinelu, Barringer librarians Mr. Frieze and Mrs. Salzano commented that she was, "a peoples person. She enjoyed working with others, as well as helping others." The memory of her will always be a part of us. And her spirit will linger in the hallways of our school forever.

Ernesto Melendez

This year Ernesto Melendez would have been a senior at Barringer. He was an intelligent young man with a sense of humor, and a vision of purpose. But on June 14, 1992, at the age of 17, Ernesto died in an automobile accident. The student body of Barringer will always remember Ernesto for what he really was: a sensitive, trusting, and caring friend.

To the Class of '94

Three short years ago, you entered as immature sophomores, now you are about to become our alumni. As you close the chapter of high school education, each of you will embark on a new chapter. Some of you will join the work force, while others seek additional training to help you focus on a specific career.

How can we as senior class advisors allow you to exit our school without expressing how each of have enriched our lives simply by giving us the opportunity of knowing you. The faculty and staff at Barringer High School will have a void in our hearts as you go on your separate paths to seek your fortunes. We will remember the hard times and cherish the enjoyable ones. May you each find the pot of gold that will serve as a reward for your hard work, intestinal fortitude and your "I" Can attitude.

Winners never quit. Quitters never win. Continue to make us proud by winning.

Special thanks to staff, students, and community at large for your words of encouragement and helping hands.

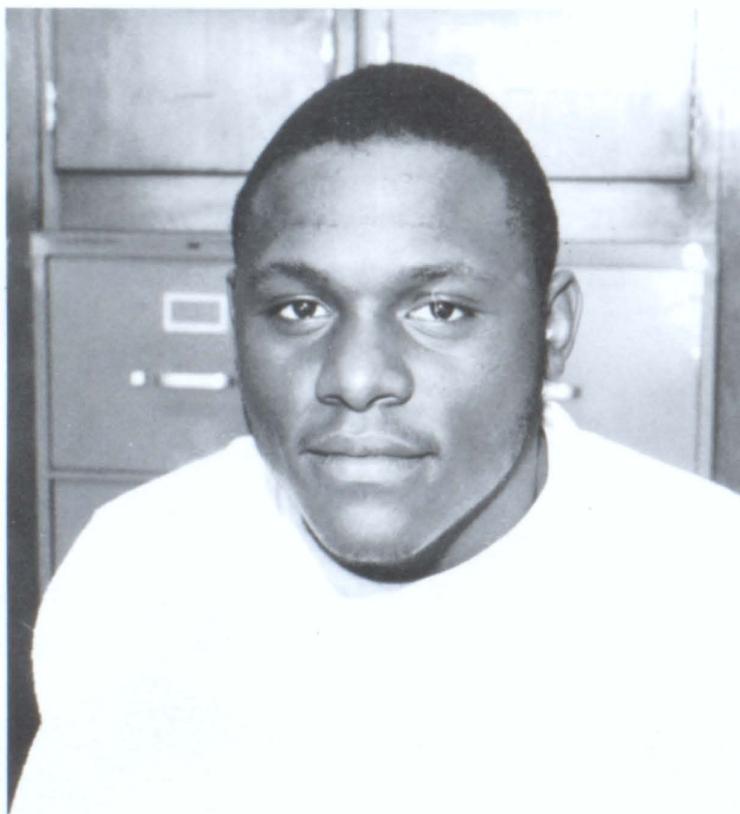

The best of luck to you,
Senior Class Advisors, Mrs. Carrie Lynn, and Mrs. Habeeb Ra-oof Malik

Ra-oof Malik

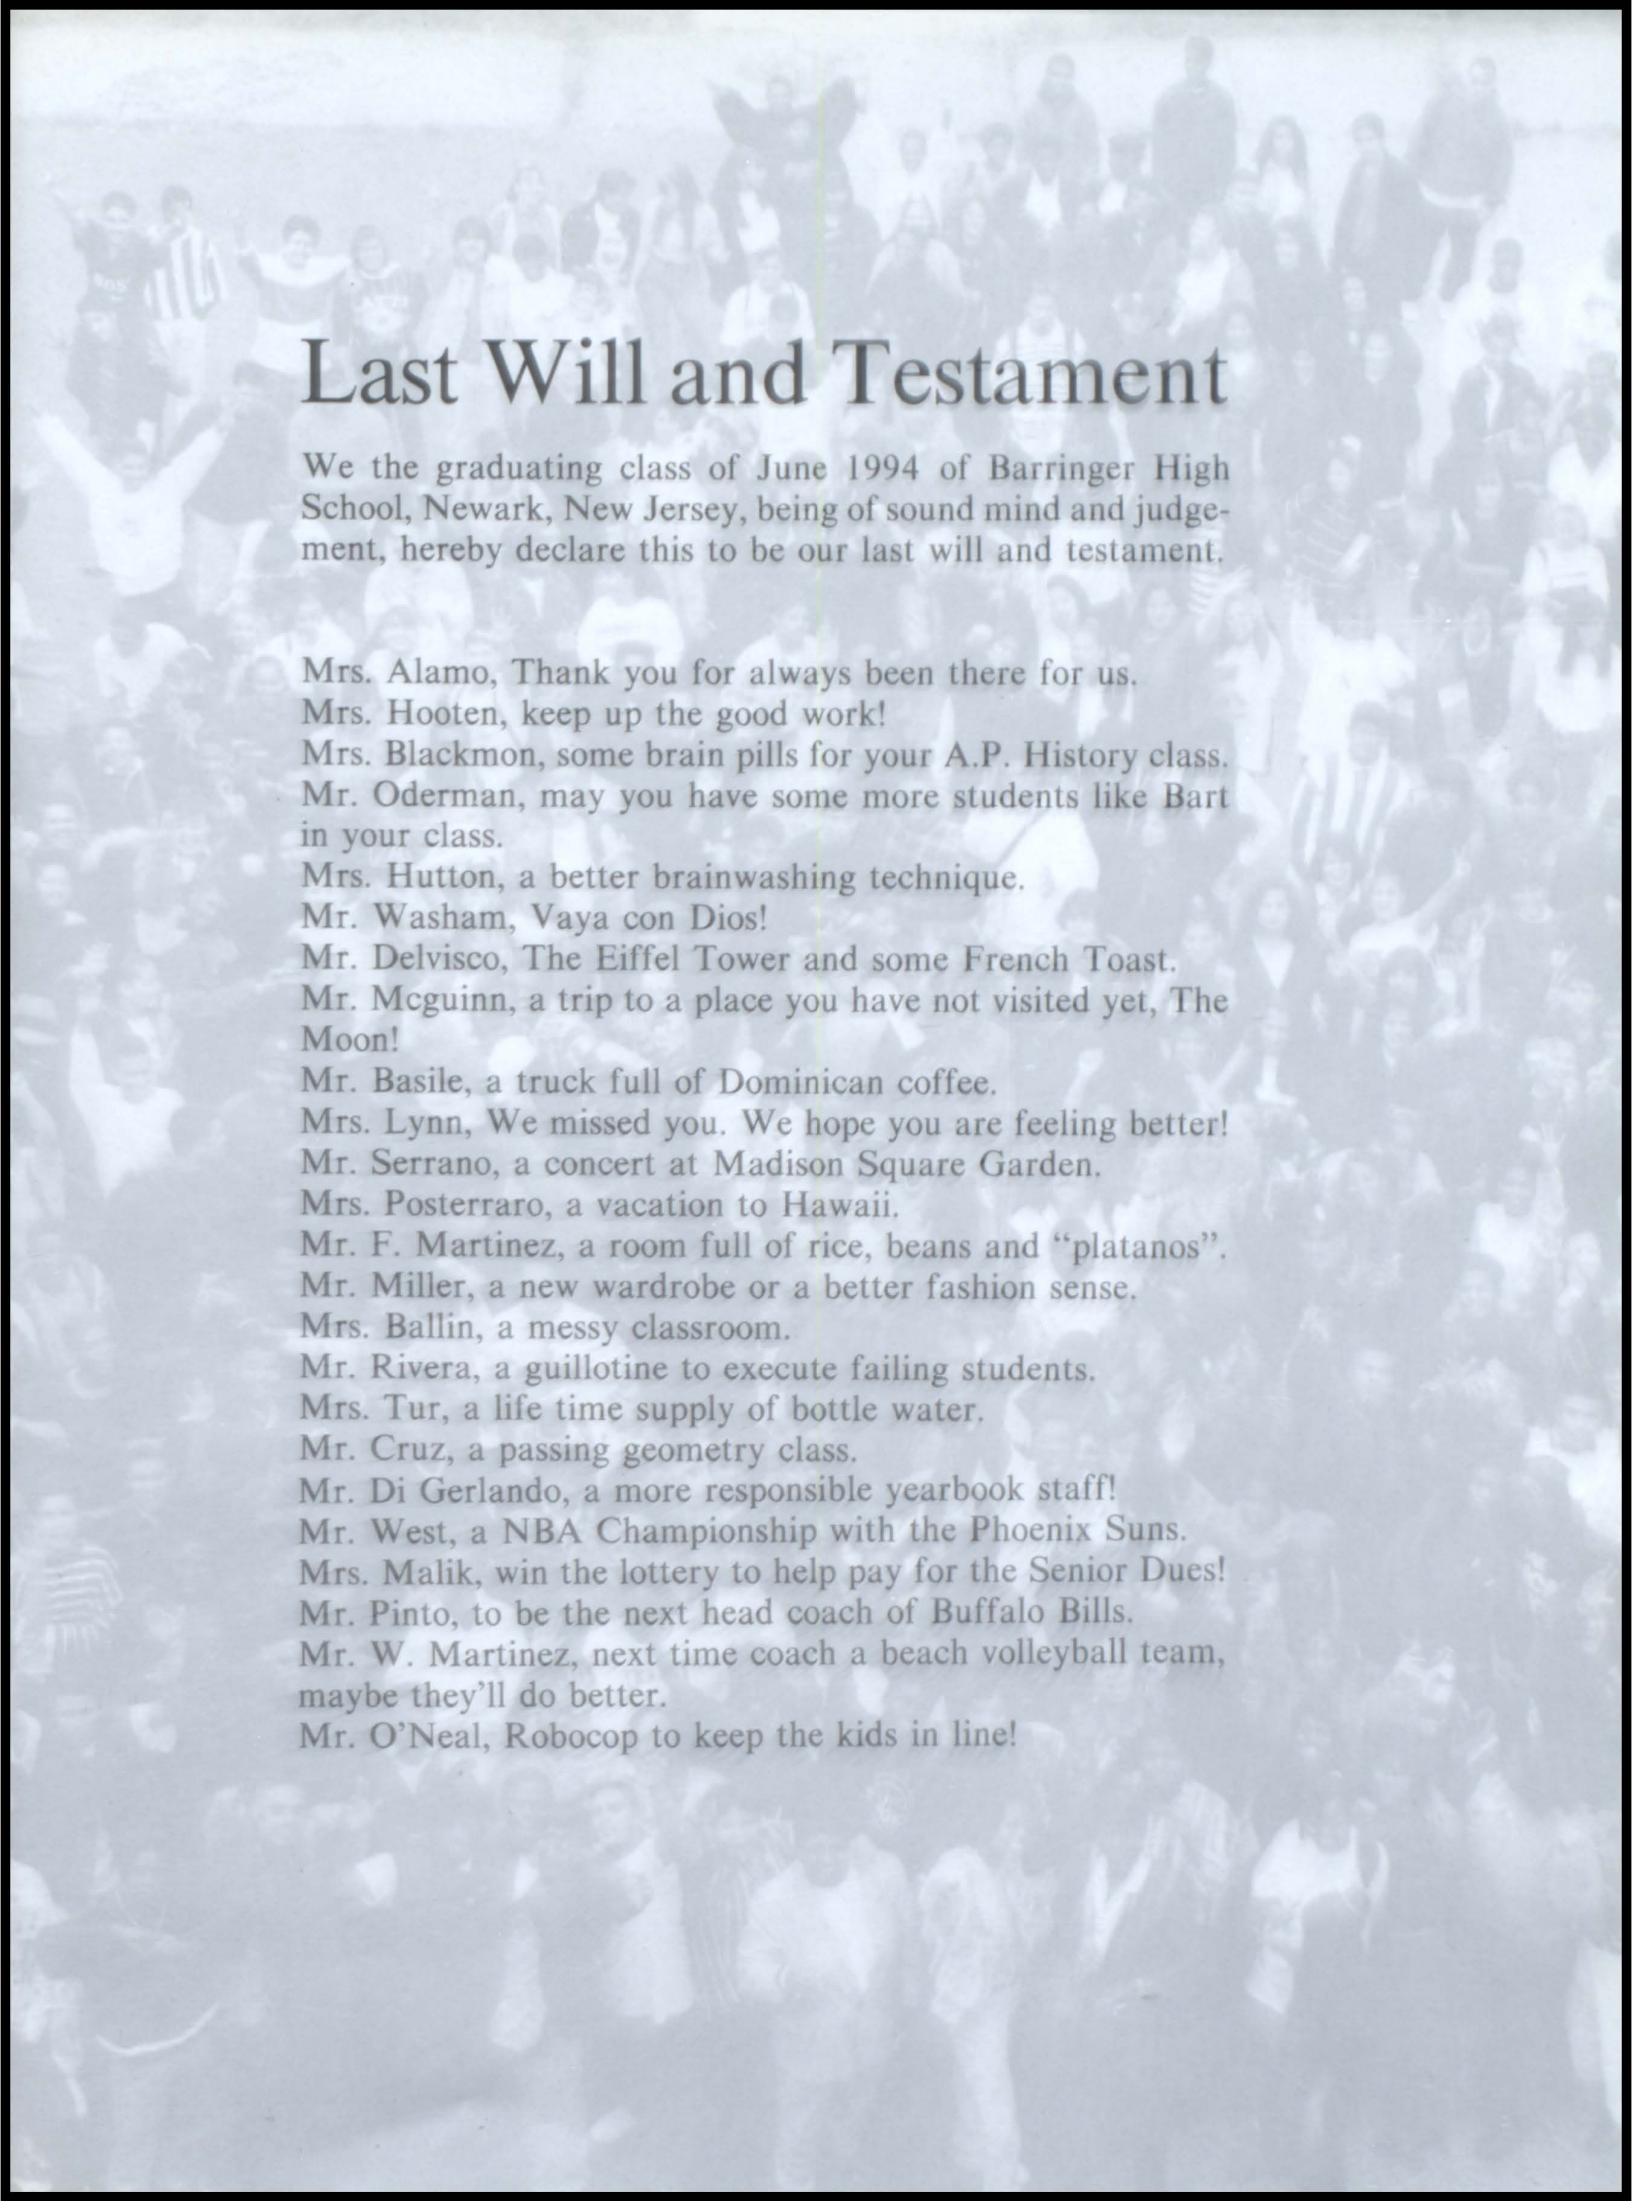

Eric Toler,

You are one of the sons that every mother hopes for. This is true because you have let Jesus Christ be your guide. Continue to follow Him, and you will never fail. We are so very proud of you.

We love you.

Mom, Gilbert Jr., John, Kimberly, Genee, Marc, and William Toler.

Last Will and Testament

We the graduating class of June 1994 of Barringer High School, Newark, New Jersey, being of sound mind and judgement, hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

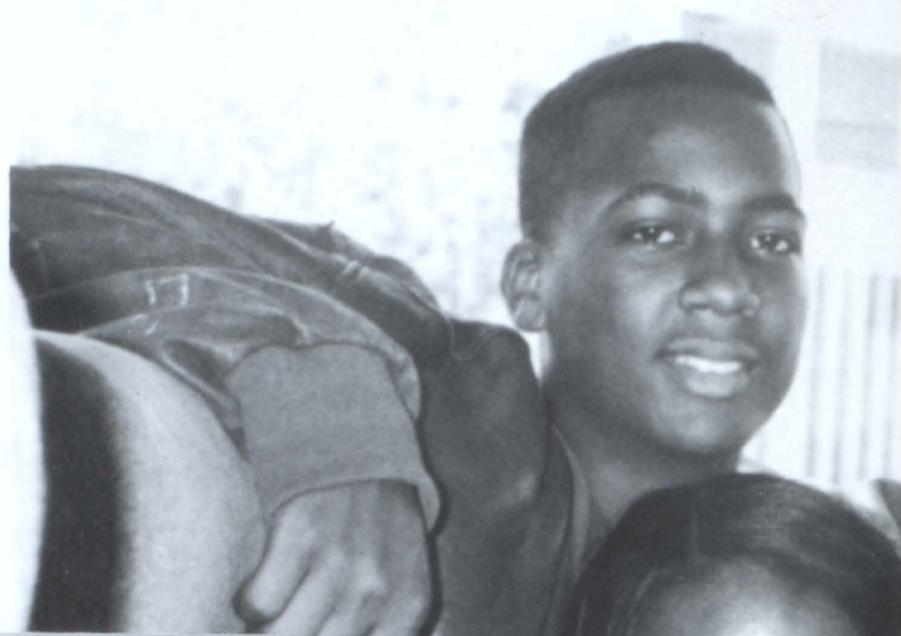

Mrs. Alamo, Thank you for always been there for us.
Mrs. Hooten, keep up the good work!
Mrs. Blackmon, some brain pills for your A.P. History class.
Mr. Oderman, may you have some more students like Bart in your class.
Mrs. Hutton, a better brainwashing technique.
Mr. Washam, Vaya con Dios!
Mr. Delvisco, The Eiffel Tower and some French Toast.
Mr. McGuinn, a trip to a place you have not visited yet, The Moon!
Mr. Basile, a truck full of Dominican coffee.
Mrs. Lynn, We missed you. We hope you are feeling better!
Mr. Serrano, a concert at Madison Square Garden.
Mrs. Posterraro, a vacation to Hawaii.
Mr. F. Martinez, a room full of rice, beans and "platanos".
Mr. Miller, a new wardrobe or a better fashion sense.
Mrs. Ballin, a messy classroom.
Mr. Rivera, a guillotine to execute failing students.
Mrs. Tur, a life time supply of bottle water.
Mr. Cruz, a passing geometry class.
Mr. Di Gerlando, a more responsible yearbook staff!
Mr. West, a NBA Championship with the Phoenix Suns.
Mrs. Malik, win the lottery to help pay for the Senior Dues!
Mr. Pinto, to be the next head coach of Buffalo Bills.
Mr. W. Martinez, next time coach a beach volleyball team, maybe they'll do better.
Mr. O'Neal, Robocop to keep the kids in line!

The experiences we shared at Barringer, which allowed us to cross many lines, are the times we won't forget. There was so much to laugh about, and a few times to cry with friends and teachers. And yet, the fondest memories of our high school years was the love we felt for our teachers and friends. We will often reflect on the secrets we shared with them.

CROSSING the line

By graduating we have crossed one important line. However, there are more lines that need to be crossed. Your responsibility is to do your best to cross the lines that you will confront in this world. You must always feel, think, act positively, and work hard for your goals. Never give up before trying, never give up — keep moving on. From this point on, only you will make all the decisions regarding your future. You will be your own dependent person, you will have to choose what's wrong or right for yourself, and have many responsibility toward your life. You must make a commitment to improve yourself whether you decide to go to college, or take yourself into the working world.

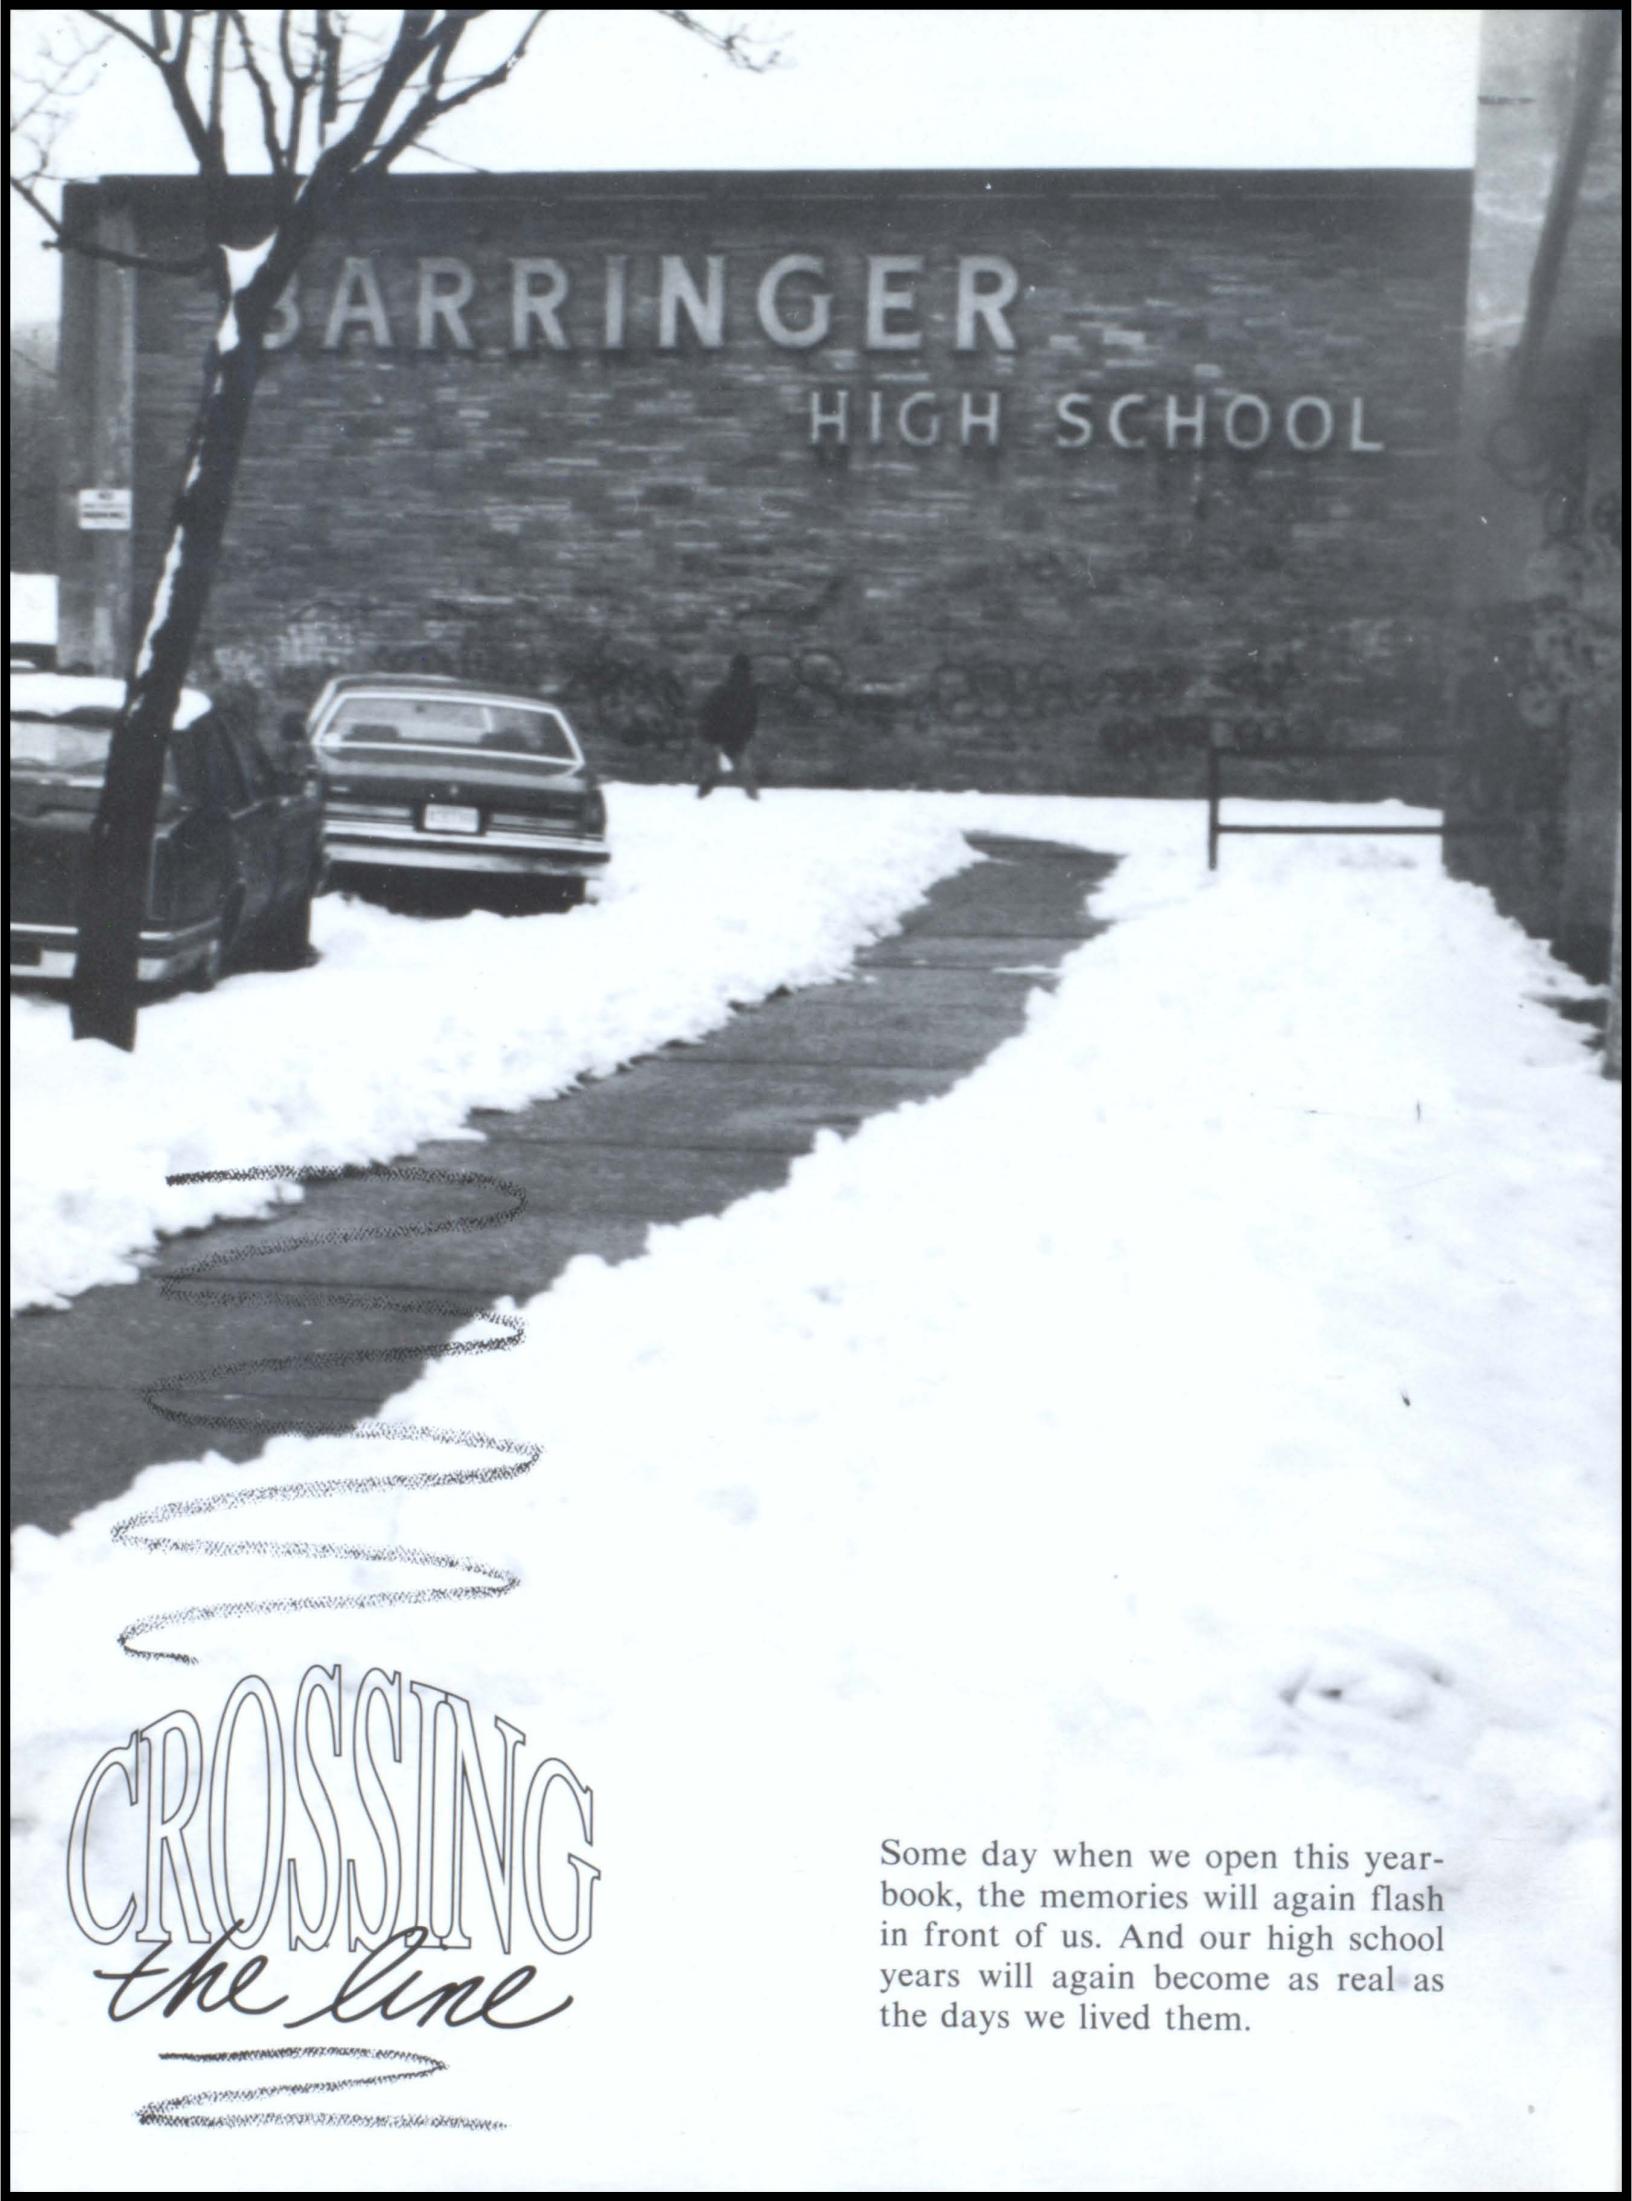

Now that you have completed high school, you are one step closer to leaving your childhood behind for ever.

Crossing the Line to a higher education. Most of the graduates of the class of 1994 are planning to continue their education, whether in a four-year college, community college, or in a business institute. They all hope to succeed and accomplish the goals they have set, and make their dreams come true.

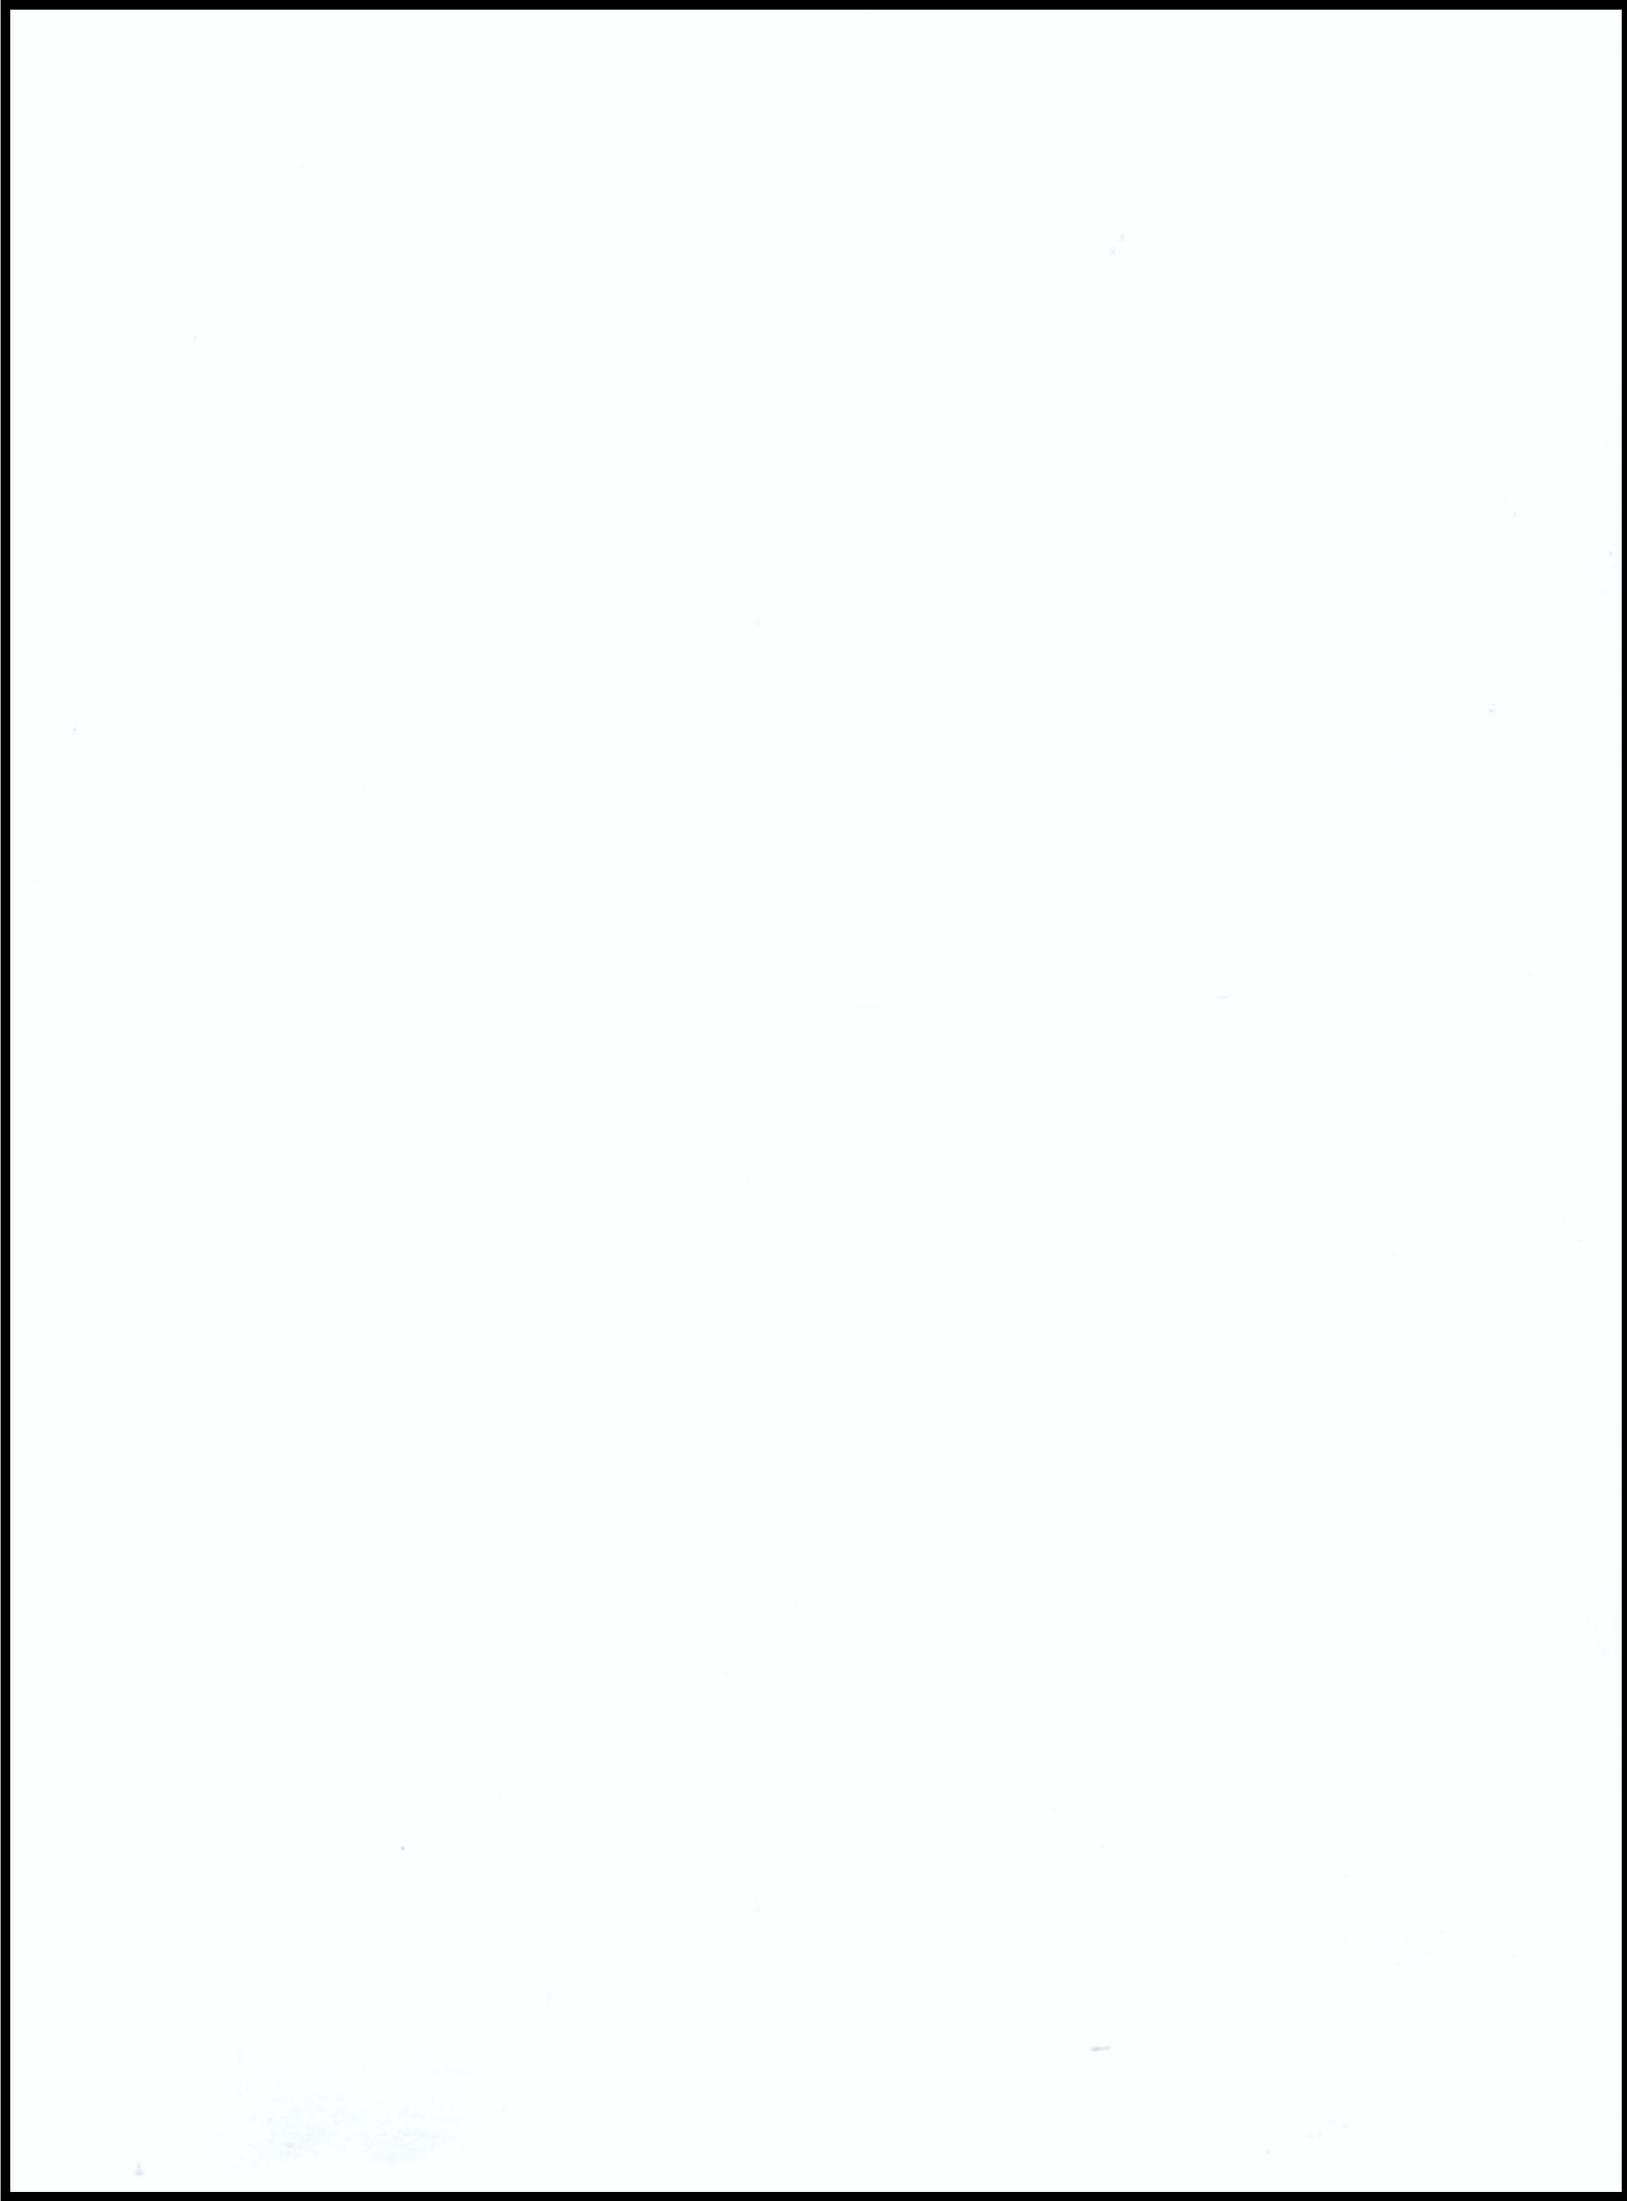

Many may not have appreciated education before, but when they now face the responsibility of survival in the real world the answer is clear. Whether you want to be a fire fighter, a doctor, or a secretary, we realize that education is the key to success.

Some day when we open this yearbook, the memories will again flash in front of us. And our high school years will again become as real as the days we lived them.
